Severe weather hits Treasure Valley region: What to know about storms and insurance coverage

BOISE, ID – Strong thunderstorms pummeled the Boise and Treasure Valley area yesterday, bringing hail and heavy rain that prompted flood advisories throughout the region.

For anyone in a storm's path, here's what to know about Home, Business and Auto Insurance coverage for storm-related damage:

- A standard Homeowners Insurance policy typically covers hail damage to your roof, siding and windows.
- Damage from wind, including roof, siding or window damage from fallen trees or limbs, is typically covered under standard homeowners and business insurance policies. And your policy protects you regardless of whether trees fall from your property or your neighbor's property.
- Standard homeowners, renters and business insurance policies do not include coverage for flooding.
- Flood Insurance can be purchased through an insurance agent or an insurer participating in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). Some private insurers offer coverage as well. Typically, there is a 30-day waiting period from the time a policy is purchased until you are covered.

- Damage to your vehicle caused by wind, hail, falling trees, flood and landslide is covered, but only if you have optional Collision or Comprehensive Coverage.

The NW Insurance Council encourages all homeowners, renters, business owners and vehicle owners to contact their insurance company representative or agent now to make sure they have the right coverage to protect their property and belongings before the next severe weather event.

If your home has suffered storm damage:

- Contact your insurance company or agent as quickly as possible to estimate damage and get the claims process underway.
- If it is safe to do so, make emergency repairs that prevent damage from worsening.
- If you are approached by contractors to make repairs to your home, insurers encourage homeowners to do due diligence to make sure your contractor is licensed & bonded by the state and has good ratings from the Better Business Bureau or online rating services. For more information about Contractor Fraud, visit the National Insurance Crime Bureau's website.
- Don't sign a repair contract you haven't read or fully understand, and don't pay "up front" for repairs before the job is completed to your satisfaction.
- If your vehicle is damaged, contact your insurance company or agent as quickly as possible and if possible, provide smartphone photos of the damage to help speed your claim.

NW Insurance Council is a nonprofit, insurer-supported organization providing information about home, auto, business and personal insurance to consumers, media and public policymakers in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.
